Conservation Outreach Internship
June–August, 2018 - dates are flexible

SUMMARY OF POSITION

The Idaho Conservation League 2018 intern will have the opportunity to work closely with engagement, program, development and communication staff to elevate Idaho Conservation League's presence within the broader community by engaging members and the public in conservation priorities through strategic events, volunteer engagement and the use of ICL’s communication tools.

DUTIES

• Outreach: Attend and staff outreach events to elevate ICL’s presence and gather support for issues. Coordinate volunteers and use ICL communication tools to build attendance.
• Field Work: Join staff on field tours to review projects in mining, travel plans, timber sales and more. Participate and lead citizen scientist projects and Wilderness stewardship outreach.
• Policy: As needed, work with program staff to review federal NEPA proposals that guide resource management, and develop science based comments.

POSITION RESPONSIBILITIES

Skills needed:
The ideal applicant has an interest in natural resources, environmental science, law or public policy. The ideal candidate is an individual with strong work habits, excellent writing and communication skills and a confident advocate and passionate adventurer for Idaho.

What you will learn:
The overall goal of the ICL internship program is to provide real-world conservation experience and exposure to the many roles within a large non-profit organization to college students, graduate students, recent graduates or others interested in learning more about conservation issues. Our goal is to find an applicant who can make a contribution to our team by working to meaningfully advance ICL’s goals and in turn will gain experience, knowledge and make connections that will further their career.

Hours and compensation:
The internship is approximately 10 weeks in length, from June to August, for 20 hours per week, although the schedule is flexible, it will include some weekends and evenings. A $1,000 stipend is available and credit may be possible for independent study. This position is based out of the Boise office.

To apply:
Please send a cover letter, resume and three references to the address below. This is an open application process that will close once the position is filled.
